

An Invitation: A Forum for Building Up a Sustainable Community

Timothy Barr

The Center for Servant Leadership at Texas Lutheran University will be hosting regular gatherings to explore the concept of the right to food, utilizing Food for Life: Recipes and Stories on the Right to Food as the primary resource. Each time together, we will share a meal selected from its recipes, and over the course of the meal, we'll discuss quotes and stories from the book, as well as related topics such as global climate change, economic globalization, and the role of faith communities. The overall goal for the project is to build community among members of the TLU community with passion and a heart for ensuring the right to food for all of God's children. As a reflective piece, we will be blogging about our experiences at and we invite you to join us by posting comments, questions, and thoughts.
